

ADIS24 Final Day Recap

We are grateful to everyone who joined us for this year's African Diaspora Investment Symposium.

The first panel on day three of ADIS24 was a session that explored climate adaptation efforts across Africa and how sustainable agricultural practices can be integrated into the broader objective of achieving food security and development for the continent.

The final panel for ADIS24, moderated by Hugh Molotsi, delved into how artificial intelligence can be leveraged to combat the detrimental consequences climate change has on our planet and discuss the various eco-friendly strategies and approaches that can be employed toward this goal.

The day concluded with the African Diaspora Luminaire Awards which celebrates individuals who have made exceptional contributions and demonstrated commitment to advance the African continent and the communities in which we live.

We were honored and delighted to award the following 2024 luminaires at the ADIS24:

Stanley Anigbogu

Latanya Mapp

Thomas DeBass

Joyce Msuya

Ali Diallo

Kady Sylla

Thank you to everyone who joined us for the African Diaspora Investment Symposium 2024 (ADIS24). We were as always, humbled to see so many old and new friends join us to hear from our esteemed panelists about climate impact, agriculture, healthcare, education, connectivity, and sustainable investment opportunities on the continent of Africa and how Africans, diasporans, and friends of Africa work together to be agents of change and active contributors to the development of Africa and the communities in which we live.

Thank you to our speakers, sponsors, volunteers, caterers, vendors, and team for making this a memorable event. We will follow up soon with photos, and a detailed recap of our time together. We look forward to continuing to engage our network this year through in-person and virtual experiences.
